CHAPTER I - DEFINITION AND COMPOSITION

Article 1 - Name and head office

CSN unions in the metropolitan Montréal area join together under the name of the Conseil central du Montréal métropolitain–CSN, hereinafter called the “central council”.

The head office of the Conseil central du Montréal métropolitain–CSN is located in Montréal.

Article 2 - Definition

The central council is a Québec organization of workers’ unions whose role is to:

- a) co-ordinate union life;
- b) represent members in the region with:
 - 1. municipal bodies and school boards;
 - 2. intermediate social, economic, political and cultural bodies;
 - 3. other decision-making bodies of the Confédération des syndicats nationaux (CSN);
 - 4. decision-making bodies of other central union organizations;
 - 5. government bodies in general, when the region represented by the central council is affected.

Union democracy is the principle that underlies how the central council works. and involves not only respect for the mandates and responsibilities of various bodies but the active participation of affiliated unions and their members.

Article 3 - Members

Unions whose head office is located within the territory for which the central council has jurisdiction shall belong to the central council.

Article 4 - Jurisdiction

The central council's geographic jurisdiction covers the Island of Montréal, Laval and Nunavik, but the central council may decide for specific reasons to affiliate unions outside these boundaries, such as the Cree Board of Health and Social Services of Eeyou Istchee James Bay.

Article 5 - Conditions of affiliation

- a) Affiliated unions adhere to this constitution and by-laws and are required to receive authorized representatives of the central council at meetings of their executive committee and union council and their general membership meetings.
- b) The central council cannot accept the affiliation of a new union whose monthly dues are less than the amount set by the CSN.
- c) Every union affiliated with the central council is required to pay the per capita dues set by the triennial convention of the central council. Per capitas are payable no later than the first (1st) day of the second (2nd) month following the month for which they are due. For example, per capitas for January are payable by March 1 at the latest.

Article 6 - Affiliation and disaffiliation procedure

- a) Unions whose head office is located within the territory for which the central council has jurisdiction must make a written application for affiliation to the central council on the form currently in use at the CSN.
- b) Affiliated unions must inform the central council's executive committee of any change they make in their constitution, as well as any changes that occur in the composition of their executive committee.
- c) When a union disaffiliates from the CSN, the terms and procedures set out in the Constitution and By-laws of the CSN (Chapter II, article 11.08) apply as they pertain to the central council.

Article 7 - Suspension and per capita

Any affiliated union that is more than three (3) months behind in the payment of its dues to the central council receives written notice from the treasurer, who invites the union to a meeting. If no agreement is reached as a result of this meeting, the union's delegates lose their right to vote at central council assemblies and conventions.

Article 8 - Suspension of voting rights

Any loss of voting rights at general assemblies and conventions of the central council, on the grounds of causing serious prejudice to the central council or for any other reason stemming from a failure to abide by the constitution and by-laws, is decided in accordance with the following provisions:

1. It is the general assembly that votes to take away the voting rights of a union's delegates.

2. The union must be given notice thirty (30) days before the general assembly is held, indicating the date, time and place of the meeting.
3. The notice must also state the accusations made against the union.
4. If the union wishes to do so, it may address the general assembly.
5. The general assembly's decision takes effect as soon as it is made. The union has the right to appeal the decision to the convention of the central council. If it prefers, the union may also appeal to the Confederal Council, which appoints an arbitration board under the CSN's Constitution and By-laws. The board makes recommendations to the Confederal Council, which makes the final decision.
6. No union may remain affiliated with the central council if it has been expelled by the CSN convention.

Article 9 - Disputes

- a) The central council has the authority to step in to resolve any dispute that might occur within one of its affiliated unions or between affiliated unions.
- b) In the event of a dispute between the central council and one of its affiliated unions that cannot be settled through direct negotiations with the union concerned, the central council submits the dispute to the Confederal Council for a binding decision.

CHAPTER II - AFFILIATION WITH AND DISAFFILIATION FROM THE CSN

Article 10 - Affiliation with and disaffiliation from the CSN

1. The central council is affiliated with the Confédération des syndicats nationaux (CSN).
 - a) A resolution for disaffiliation from the CSN may not be discussed unless notice of motion has been given at least thirty (30) days in advance. The notice of motion must be given at a general assembly of the central council. The notice of motion and the resolution must be discussed at the convention of the central council.
 - b) As soon as such notice of motion is given, it must be sent to the CSN and the unions concerned; the latter must be informed of the reasons for disaffiliation at least thirty (30) days in advance.
 - c) Authorized representatives of the CSN are automatically entitled to attend the convention at which the resolution is discussed and give their point of view if they so wish.
 - d) To pass, the resolution must be supported by the majority of affiliated unions, representing the majority of dues-paying members.

CHAPTER III - PURPOSE AND MEANS

Article 11 - General spirit

The central council adheres to the principles set out in the document entitled "Statement of Principles of the Conseil central du Montréal métropolitain–CSN".

Article 12 - Purpose

The purpose of the central council is to promote the occupational, economic, social, political and cultural interests of workers, without infringing on a person's rights because of her or his language, nationality, situation as a racialized person, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, religion, ethnic origins or political opinions and convictions.

The purpose of the central council is to promote the interests of the working class. It is committed to combatting all forms of exploitation and working for a vision of society based on democracy, human rights, sustainable development, social justice, equality and fairness.

Respectful of the philosophical, political and religious convictions of all its members, the central council decides on and organizes its action freely, independent of all political parties, governments, employers and religious or philosophical authorities, mainly with a view to achieving greater democracy in all spheres of power, including economic and corporate power in the workplace.

In its own field of action, and in collaboration with other institutions and representative associations, the central council seeks to promote economic, social and environmental conditions for workers that help improve the general public's living and working conditions.

Union democracy

One of the central council's immediate objectives is to further the expansion of unionization and the full-fledged right to organize in the region. Since unions bring together workers of all opinions, none of their members should be troubled because of their political, philosophical or religious opinions.

Article 13 - Means

To fulfil its purposes, the central council should take all appropriate means, in particular:

- a) developing a program of action to expand union organizing, in collaboration with the CSN and its affiliated organizations;
- b) creating, organizing and maintaining all necessary committees;
- c) making use of the most effective means of propaganda;
- d) co-ordinating the work of affiliated organizations;
- e) setting up the appropriate bodies for resolving disputes between affiliated organizations;
- f) representing unions wherever the interests of workers so warrant, and more especially with public authorities;
- g) calling for measures that help advance workers;
- h) demanding that private and public enterprises and all official bodies to which the government entrusts the examination and/or application of labour legislation and social security make all existing information available to union, worker and grassroots organizations, so that they can arrive at a fully informed and accurate opinion of their situation, management and policies.

CHAPTER IV - POLITICAL ACTION

Article 14 - Political action

The central council is a union organization independent of all political parties and is prohibited from affiliating with any party. However, the central council:

- a) must, at the appropriate times, submit the demands of workers and unions within its jurisdiction to the proper municipal and schoolboard authorities and to intermediate bodies in social, economic, political and cultural fields, either on its own or jointly with other labour or social organizations in the region;
- b) informs the CSN of any resolutions that could have an impact in Quebec, in Canada or at an international level;
- c) may take positions for or against measures, doctrines and legislation concerning workers in the region; may also examine and assess the attitudes of governments, political parties and public figures; may, by decision of the general assembly, provide support from time to time on the basis of its demands, while respecting union autonomy;
- d) does not intervene regarding political positions that affiliated unions deem appropriate to take, unless they run counter to its Statement of Principles or to the interests of workers in the region;
- e) recognizes the full civil rights of every union member;
- f) may, in the interests of workers, take any other form of political action.

CHAPTER V - STRUCTURES

Article 15 - Structures

The central council is run by the following bodies, according to their powers and responsibilities:

- a) the convention;
- b) the general assembly;
- c) the union council;
- d) the executive committee.

CHAPTER VI - THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Article 16 - Composition

The general assembly of the central council is composed of:

- a) official delegates or alternates, elected by affiliated unions;
- b) members of the central council's executive committee and union council, who also have official delegate status but cannot be replaced by an alternate;
- c) one official delegate from the Organization des retraité-es de la CSN, OR (CSN) (CSN pensioners' organization);
- d) For provincial unions whose head office is not located on the territory of the central council, the following rule applies: for the sole purposes of representation and calculating the number of delegates to central council bodies, the members of this union who regularly work within the territory of the central council constitute a local section of this union, and for these purposes only, such a section is deemed to have the same rights as a union. The provincial union remains responsible for choosing delegates, with the proviso that the delegates' workplace must be located on the territory of the central council.

Each provincial union present on the territory of the central council whose head office is located in another region is entitled to one delegate, regardless of the number of members it has. Once the union's membership within the territory reaches 150 members, it is entitled to two delegates.

Article 17 - Delegations

- a) Every union is entitled to two delegates, regardless of the number of members it has. Delegates must be dues-paying members of a union in good standing with the central council, the CSN and its federation, and have an employment relationship with the employer covered by the union's certification. This rule also applies to provincial unions whose head office is located within the territory of the council..

1 to 399 members	2 delegates
400 to 599 members	3 delegates
600 to 799 members	4 delegates
800 to 999 members	5 delegates
1,000 to 1,199 members	6 delegates
1,200 to 1,399 members	7 delegates
1,400 to 1,599 members	8 delegates

1,600 to 1,799 members	9 delegates
1,800 to 1,999 members	10 delegates

And so on, adding one delegate for every 200 additional members

The membership of the CSN–Construction is determined by the most recent list of dues-paying members issued by the Commission de la construction du Québec (CCQ) for the previous year. For the sole purposes of representation and determining the number of CSN–Construction delegates to the central council’s bodies, the members of CSN–Construction who regularly work within the territory for which the central council has jurisdiction shall constitute a section of the union, and this section, for the stated purpose, shall be considered a union.

CSN–Construction shall remain responsible for selecting its delegates provided that the workplace of the delegates is located within the territory for which the central council has jurisdiction..

- b) An official delegate may be replaced by an alternate, who has the same powers, duties and obligations as the official delegate in the latter’s absence. An alternate must have credentials duly filled out on the form provided by the central council for this purpose. The number of alternates cannot exceed the number of official delegates.
- c) Every three (3) years, within thirty (30) days of the end of the convention, the credentials committee, in collaboration with the treasurer, sends each union duplicate copies of the number of credentials to which it is entitled under paragraph a) above. All delegates’ credentials must be duly filled out, signed and returned to the credentials committee. Each union’s delegation is set for a maximum of three (3) years, beginning on September 1 of a given year and ending on August 31 three years later.

- d) Members of the executive committees of the CSN and federations may attend any assembly and take part in proceedings but do not vote.

Alternates may attend any assembly and take part in proceedings after official delegates, members of the executive committees of the CSN and federations and CSN employees, but do not vote.

Article 18 - Delegates' credentials

After their credentials are received by the central council, new delegates must be accepted by a resolution of the general assembly before taking their seats.

Article 19 - Meetings

- a) The general assembly meets at least nine (9) times a year, excluding the months of July and August.
- b) Meetings of the general assembly are called by the president. Should he or she refuse to do so, three (3) members of the executive committee or ten (10) duly accredited delegates may require the secretary to call a meeting of the general assembly by signing a request to that effect.
- c) The executive committee of the central council is required to call a special general assembly at the request of the executive committee of the CSN for reasons that the CSN deems serious and in the interests of its members and the movement.
- d) Unless there are exceptional circumstances, the meeting is chaired by a delegate duly accredited not being part of the executive committee. The chairman of the assembly is elected at the first general meeting following the convention, as well as two substitutes.

Article 20 - Notice of meeting and agenda

- a) Notice of meeting for regular or special general assemblies is sent out by the general secretary.
- b) The notice of meeting for any regular or special assembly must specify the date, time and place of the meeting.
- c) Agendas for all assemblies are prepared by the executive committee and sent to delegates along with the notice of meeting at least eight (8) days before the meeting.
- d) Notice of meeting for a special assembly is sent to delegates at least seventy-two (72) hours before the said assembly. In an emergency situation, however, the rule of seventy-two (72) hours' notice may be modified providing that the methods used to call the meeting allow all members to be reached personally.

Article 21 - Length and scheduling of meetings

When held during the week, general assembly meetings last a maximum of three (3) hours and do not begin before 6 p.m. nor end after 10 p.m. However, they may be extended by a resolution passed by two thirds (2/3) of the delegates present. The executive committee of the central council may, however, call a regular or special general assembly at times that do not follow the above-mentioned schedule, when necessary.

Article 22 - Kinds of assemblies

There are two kinds of assemblies:

- a) Regular general assemblies concerning the internal governance of the central council, at which members are informed about the work of the central council, examine topics identified in the convention's plan of work and receive reports from the executive committee, union council, committees, delegates or treasurer.
- b) Special general assemblies, at which members have the same authority as at a regular general assembly and examine any urgent matter of general interest. The notice of meeting for a special general assembly must state the topics on the agenda. This agenda cannot be modified.

Article 23 - Quorum

The quorum for the general assembly is set at 10% of the total number of official delegates reported to the central council during the period set out in Article 17 b).

Article 24 - Visitors and guests

Visitors or guests may attend a meeting of the general assembly and address it with the assembly's permission.

Article 25 - Powers and duties

Subject to the powers and duties of the executive committee and union council, the general assembly is authorized to lead the central council between conventions. Its specific powers and duties include:

- a) carrying out convention policies and instructions;
- b) receiving and disposing of reports from its committees;
- c) striking, as may be necessary, the committees provided for in the constitution and by-laws and other committees required for the central council to run smoothly, choosing committee members and taking their reports into consideration; the general assembly may delegate some of its powers to such committees;
- d) appointing representatives to the Confederal Bureau and Confederal Council;
- e) ratifying the affiliation of new unions and ruling on the suspension or exclusion of any affiliated union;
- f) authorizing any administrative expenditure recommended by the executive committee, after consulting the financial oversight committee;
- g) making any recommendation that it deems appropriate to the executive committee or union council;
- h) removing any elected officer of the central council from office in accordance with the provisions of Article 40 f) and g);
- i) filling vacancies on the executive committee or union council;
- j) approving the collective agreement of central council employees;
- k) calling a special convention on one or more specific matters at the executive committee's recommendation; the rules on delegations are the same as for a regular convention.

CHAPTER VII - THE CONVENTION

Article 26 - The convention

The convention is the highest authority. Every three (3) years in the spring, at the time and place set by the executive committee, delegates from unions meet in a regional convention. The general assembly may, however, postpone or advance the dates of the convention when circumstances so require, by means of a vote of two thirds (2/3) of its members. The convention lasts at least four (4) days.

Article 27 - Representation at the convention

- a) The convention is composed of:
- 1) official delegates or their alternates elected by affiliated unions. Delegates must be dues-paying members of a union in good standing with the central council, the CSN and its federation, and have an employment relationship with the employer covered by the union's certification. This rule also applies to provincial unions whose head office is located on the territory of the central council;
 - 2) members of the central council's executive committee and union council, who also have official delegate status but cannot be replaced by an alternate;
 - 3) two official delegates from the Organisation des retraité-es de la CSN, OR (CSN) (CSN pensioners' organization);
 - 4) for provincial unions whose head office is not located within the territory of the central council, the following rule applies: for the sole purposes of representation and calculating the number of delegates for central council bodies, the members of this union who regularly work within the territory of the central council constitute a local section of this union and, for these purposes only, such a section is deemed to have the same rights as a union. The provincial union remains responsible for choosing delegates, with the proviso that the delegates' workplace must be located within the territory of the central council.

Each provincial union present within the territory of the central council whose head office is located in another region is entitled to one delegate, regardless of the number of members it has. Once the union's membership within the territory reaches 150 members, it is entitled to two delegates.

For the sole purposes of representation and determining the number of CSN–Construction delegates to the central council's bodies, the members of CSN–Construction who regularly work within the territory for which the central council has jurisdiction shall constitute a section of the union, and this section, for the stated purpose, shall be considered a union.

- b) Each union is entitled to two delegates, regardless of the number of members it has. Once a union's membership reaches 400 members, it is entitled to three delegates. It is entitled to one delegate for every 200 additional members.

1 to 399 members	2 delegates
400 to 599 members	3 delegates
600 to 799 members	4 delegates

800 to 999 members	5 delegates
1,000 to 1,199 members	6 delegates
1,200 to 1,399 members	7 delegates
1,400 to 1,599 members	8 delegates
1,600 to 1,799 members	9 delegates
1,800 to 1,999 members	10 delegates
2,000 to 2,199 members	11 delegates
2,200 to 2,399 members	12 delegates
2,400 to 2,599 members	13 delegates
2,600 to 2,799 members	14 delegates
2,800 to 2,999 members	15 delegates
3,000 to 3,199 members	16 delegates
3,200 to 3,399 members	17 delegates
3,400 to 3,599 members	18 delegates
3,600 to 3,799 members	19 delegates
3,800 to 3,999 members	20 delegates
4,000 to 4,199 members	21 delegates
4,200 to 4,399 members	22 delegates
4,400 to 4,599 members	23 delegates
4,600 to 4,799 members	24 delegates
4,800 to 4,999 members	25 delegates
5,000 to 5,199 members	26 delegates

The membership of the Syndicat de la construction de Montréal (CSN) is determined by the most recent list of dues-paying members issued by the Commission de la construction du Québec (CCQ) for the year preceding the convention.

Unions must send in their membership list each month. The delegation for the convention is based on the average number of dues-paying members on these lists for the 12 months preceding the convention.

An official delegate may be replaced by an alternate, who has the same powers, duties and obligations as the official delegate. An alternate must have credentials duly filled out on the form provided by the central council for this purpose. The number of alternates cannot exceed the number of official delegates.

- c) Every three (3) years, at least sixty (60) days before the convention, the vice-president of the central council, in collaboration with the treasurer, sends each union the credentials to which it is entitled for the official delegates it chooses for the convention. Each union must return a copy of the credentials to the credentials committee of the central council fifteen (15) days before the convention begins. Only the convention may accept credentials for official delegates that are submitted late, after hearing the reasons for the delay and the credentials committee's report.
- d) All credentials must be duly signed by two members of the executive committee mandated to do so.
- e) For purposes of representation at the convention, unions must have paid their dues and per capita to the central council, the CSN and federations for the period prior to ninety (90) days before the convention begins, unless the parties have come to an agreement on the reimbursement of such dues and per capita.

Article 28 - Convention call and registration

- a) As soon as the date of the convention is definitely decided and at least two (2) months before that date, the general secretary of the central council so informs unions by means of an open letter.
- b) The copies of delegates' credentials from each union must be accompanied by an amount equal to the registration fees set by the executive committee. In all cases, registration fees must be paid before a delegate can be accredited by the convention.
- c) Members of the executive committee of the CSN and federations are entitled to take part in proceedings but do not have voting rights. Alternates are entitled to attend the convention and take part in proceedings, but do not have voting rights.

Article 29 - The convention's powers

The convention is the highest authority. Its role includes:

- a) receiving and adopting submitted reports;
- b) adopting the financial report and setting the budget for the three (3) subsequent years; adopting the pay policy for the executive committee's elected members;
- c) setting per capita dues;
- d) electing the members of the executive committee, union council and, if applicable, committees provided for in the constitution and by-laws, to a term of office of three (3) years;
- e) adopting and amending the constitution and by-laws of the central council;

- f) making any decision related to keeping the central council working smoothly.

Article 30 - Written reports

A copy of recommendations to be submitted to the convention is sent to each union at least two (2) weeks before the start of the convention, with the exception of the financial report.

Article 31 - Convention quorum

The quorum necessary for convention proceedings is 20% of the total number of registered official delegates.

CHAPTER VIII - THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Article 32 - Composition

The executive committee of the central council is composed of members holding the positions of president, general secretary, treasurer, first vice-president and second vice-president.

Article 33 - Meetings

- a) The executive committee meets as often as it considers appropriate, and at least once a month before the meeting of the general assembly.
- b) The monthly meeting is held at the place, date and time set by resolution of the executive committee.

Article 34 - Special meetings

- a) The executive committee meets as needed at the call of the president or upon a signed request to the general secretary by three (3) of its members.
- b) Any special meeting is called by written notice stipulating the reason for the meeting.
- c) The quorum for the executive committee is a majority of the positions that are filled.

Article 35 - Powers and duties

As part of its powers and duties, the executive committee is responsible for preparing the recommendations submitted to the general assembly or convention, subject to the provisions of Article 38 e). In accordance with orientations and resolutions adopted at a convention or general assembly, it provides general leadership for the central council between conventions and general assemblies, as required by circumstances and to defend the general interests of workers.

Subject to the provisions of this constitution and by-laws, the executive committee is governed by the decisions of the convention and general assembly. Its specific duties are to:

- a) set the rules for its internal governance;
- b) prepare the agenda and lead proceedings at conventions and general assemblies;
- c) receive suggestions from the general assembly for examination and consideration or forward them to the union council if they fall within the latter's jurisdiction;
- d) take all necessary steps and make the appropriate decisions for the central council to run smoothly, providing that such actions do not come within the powers and duties of the union council, general assembly or convention;

- e) appoint various committees to which it can delegate some of its powers, when it considers it necessary;
- f) may, unless otherwise stipulated, appoint all necessary delegations, subject to their ratification by the general assembly;
- g) examine the grievances of delegates from affiliated unions and refer them, if it deems it appropriate, to a grievance committee of its own choosing, while exercising the discretion required in the circumstances;
- h) rule on complaints about violence or harassment involving active members, elected officers or employees of the organization who have mandates and responsibilities within the central council, in accordance with the policy adopted by the general assembly; it may, in accordance with that procedure, impose the appropriate penalties, subject to the provisions of Article 40 h) and i);
- i) manage the work done by the employees of the central council and those assigned by the CSN;
- j) examine requests for affiliation submitted by the general secretary of the central council and report on them to the general assembly;
- k) submit to the general assembly any suggestions that it considers appropriate for obtaining sound social and labour relations legislation;
- l) in urgent situations, make any decisions that it deems appropriate, subject to ratification by the general assembly;

- m) on behalf of the central council, negotiate the collective agreement of its employees, which must be ratified by the general assembly;
- n) conduct the central council's business and decide on administrative expenses and how all financial resources are to be used, in collaboration with the financial oversight committee;
- o) ensure that complete and accurate accounts of the central council's revenues and finances are kept, and present the convention with financial statements that have been examined by an auditor appointed by the general assembly;
- p) hire and dismiss employees working for the central council, define their duties and roles, weigh the validity of complaints made against them, after hearing the interested parties, and require each employee to report on his or her activities and obligations;
- q) work with the central council's treasurer to prepare a three-year budget that is submitted to the convention for decision, after first consulting the union council on it;
- r) the treasurer or a representative elected by the executive committee co-signs cheques with another member of the executive committee;
- s) appoint convention committees long enough in advance to allow them to meet and submit their recommendations at the beginning of the convention;
- t) present a written report on its activities to the convention;
- u) the executive committee is responsible for ensuring that services to members are delivered in accordance with the central council's constitution and by-laws, seeing to it that committees run smoothly, taking the necessary steps to foster better integration of activities that are under the responsibility of members of the union council and providing political follow-up on the activities of the central council and committee mandates.

The executive committee is part of the union council.

CHAPTER IX - THE UNION COUNCIL

Article 36 - Composition

The Union Council of the central council is composed of fifteen (15) people holding the following positions:

- President;
- General Secretary;
- Treasurer;
- First Vice-President;
- Second Vice-President;
- Officer responsible for status of women;
- Officer responsible for Occupational health and safety action;
- Officer responsible for right to work;
- Officer responsible for international solidarity;
- Officer responsible for immigration and intercultural relations;
- Officer responsible for youth;
- Officer responsible for LGBT+;
- Officer responsible for health and social services;
- Officer responsible for education;
- Officer responsible for environment.

Article 37 - Meetings

- a) The union council meets as often as it considers appropriate and at least once every two (2) months, either called by the executive committee or upon request to the general secretary by five (5) members of the union council.
- b) The bi-monthly meeting is held at the place, date and time set by union council resolution.
- c) The quorum for the union council is a majority of the positions filled.

Article 38 - Powers and duties

Subject to the provisions of this constitution and by-laws, the union council is subordinate to the decisions of the convention and the general assembly. Its specific roles are to:

- a) structure all the work of the central council on the basis of convention mandates;
- b) ensure that the members of the executive committee of the central council and the committees created by the general assembly develop complementary or joint actions aimed at meeting unions' needs;
- c) contribute to the development of general policies and orientations in accordance with the decisions of the convention and general assembly;
- d) see to the smooth functioning and co-ordination of work on the ten (10) areas of struggle, within the budgets voted by the convention;
- e) prepare recommendations to be submitted to the general assembly and the convention;

- f) incorporate into its work the advancement of the rights and demands of discriminated groups (e.g.: women, youth, older workers, immigrants, the LGBT+ community, etc.).

CHAPTER X - ELECTION PROCEDURES, POWERS AND DUTIES

Article 39

Article 39.01 - Executive committee elections

The executive committee of the central council is composed of five (5) people holding the positions of:

- president;
- general secretary;
- treasurer;
- first vice-president;
- second vice-president.

Election procedures:

- a) Official nomination papers are established for accredited official delegates or regular CSN employees who wish to run for one of the positions on the executive committee of the central council. The nomination papers must be duly filled out by the candidate on a form supplied by the central council and signed by at least five (5) accredited official delegates.
- b) Each candidate for a position on the executive committee must specify the position for which he or she is running. Only candidates whose nomination papers are in order may be formally nominated.

- c) All nomination papers must be turned in to the convention secretariat at the time and on the day set by the convention. The papers are checked by the election president and secretary, who report on them to the convention.
- d) The election president and secretary are chosen by the convention. A sufficient number of scrutineers are designated by the election president.
- e) Once all the candidates for a given position have been nominated, the election president declares that nominations are closed.
- f) The election president must always ask each candidate whether he or she agrees to stand for election. Candidates may withdraw at any time up until voting begins.
- g) If there is only one candidate standing for election, the election president asks whether the convention wishes that a vote be held. If 25% of the registered official delegates wish a vote, the election president orders that the vote be held; if not, the candidate is elected by acclamation. If there is more than one candidate for the same position, the election president orders that a vote be held, and asks each candidate to address the convention for three (3) minutes, proceeding by alphabetical order.
- h) Voting is by secret ballot. To be elected, a candidate must receive an absolute majority of ballots cast. Spoiled ballots are not counted in the total used to calculate the absolute majority. Failing an absolute majority, the candidate who receives the fewest votes is dropped from the ballot for the next round of voting.

- i) During voting, no one may enter or leave the room where the voting is conducted without the permission of the election president. The election president has marshals placed at the doors to enforce this rule.
- j) The day and time of elections are decided by the convention.

Article 39.02 - Union council elections

The union council is composed of the executive committee of the central council plus people holding the positions of officers responsible for:

- Status of Women Committee;
- Right to Work Committee;
- Action on Health and Safety Committee;

the officers responsible for for the following committees: Status of Women, Right to Work, Action on Health and Safety, International Solidarity, Immigration and Intercultural Relations, Youth, LGBT+, Health and Social Services, Education, Environment.

- a) Official nomination papers are established for accredited official delegates or regular CSN employees who wish to run for one of the positions on the union council. The nomination papers must be duly filled out by the candidate on a form supplied by the central council and signed by at least five (5) accredited official delegates.
- b) Each candidate for a position on the union council must specify the position for which he or she is running. Only candidates whose nomination papers are in order may be formally nominated.
- c) All nomination papers must be turned in to the secretariat at the time and on the day set by the convention. The papers are checked by the election president and secretary, who report on them to the convention.
- d) The election president and secretary are chosen by the convention. A sufficient number of scrutineers are designated by the election president.
- e) Once all the candidates for a given position have been nominated, the election president declares that nominations are closed.
- f) The election president must always ask each candidate whether he or she agrees to stand for election. Candidates may withdraw at any time up until voting begins.
- g) If there is only one candidate standing for election, the election president proclaims him or her elected by acclamation. If, on the contrary, there is more than one candidate for the same position, the election president orders that a vote be held, and asks each candidate to speak to the meeting for three (3) minutes, proceeding by alphabetical order.

- h) Voting is by secret ballot. To be elected, a candidate must receive an absolute majority of ballots cast. Spoiled ballots are not counted in the total used to calculate the absolute majority. Failing an absolute majority, the candidate who receives the fewest votes is dropped from the ballot for the next round of voting.
- i) During voting, no one may enter or leave the room where the voting is conducted without the permission of the election president. The election president has marshals placed at the doors to enforce this rule.
- j) The day and time of elections are decided by the convention.

Article 39.03 - Swearing-in ceremonial

The election president asks delegates to stand and proceeds to swear in the members of the executive committee and union council, using the following ceremonial:

Comrades, I have the honour of solemnly declaring you elected as members of the executive committee and the union council of the Conseil central du Montréal métropolitain-CSN.

You already know what the rights and duties of your respective offices are, and you are also familiar with the Statement of Principles and the constitution and by-laws of the CCMM-CSN.

Do you promise on your honour to act in accordance with them, to conduct yourself conscientiously in performing your duties at all times and to do everything in your power to remain worthy of the convention's trust in you?

One after the other, the members of the executive committee and the union council answer aloud: I so promise on my honour.

The convention replies: We are witnesses thereto.

Article 40 - Candidacies

- a) The people entitled to stand for election to one of these positions are the official delegates whose names appear on the list drawn up by the credentials committee
- b) To be nominated, a person must be an official delegate to the convention and be present in the convention hall unless he or she has previously accepted candidacies in writing. Delegates may nominate as many candidates as they wish, but to be elected, a candidate must receive an absolute majority of votes.
- c) In the event of an extended, justified leave of a member of the union council who is a officer, the committee in question will appoint one of its members from an affiliated union to act as a substitute. This appointment must be approved by the CCMM–CSN general assembly, upon recommendation by the executive committee, after having been formally put on the agenda sent with the notice of meeting for the assembly.

The substitute shall perform all duties of the officer and shall have the same rights and duties for the duration of the officer's absence.

- d) If a position on the executive committee or union council becomes vacant between conventions, it is filled by the general assembly.

1. The executive committee gives notice of election for the position to be filled at the assembly preceding the one at which the election is held.
 2. Once all the candidates for a given position have been nominated, the election president declares candidacies closed.
 3. The election president must always ask each candidate whether he or she agrees to stand for election; a candidate may withdraw at any time until voting begins.
 4. If there is only one candidate standing for election, the election president asks whether the convention wishes that a vote be held for an executive committee position. If 25% of the registered official delegates wish a vote, the election president orders that the vote be held; if not, the candidate is elected by acclamation. If there is more than one candidate for the same position, the election president orders that a vote be held and invites each candidate to address the convention for three (3) minutes, proceeding by alphabetical order.
 5. Voting is by secret ballot, in accordance with the rules set out in this constitution and by-laws.
- e) A member of the central council's executive committee or union council who, for reasons beyond his or her control or because he or she retires, is no longer a dues-paying member of a union in good standing with the central council, the CSN and the appropriate federation and no longer has an employment relationship with the employer covered by the union's certification may, upon recommendation from the executive committee to the union council, complete his or her term of office if he or she so wishes. The union council's decision must be ratified by the general meeting.

- f) No one may both have an elected position on the central council's executive committee or union council and be an employee of the central council, a federation or the CSN for a period of more than six (6) consecutive months.

Members of the central council's executive committee or union council who obtain a position as a non-regular employee may combine the two (2) positions inasmuch as the executive committee, after consulting the committee concerned, if applicable, deems that the two are not incompatible. A member who is invited by the executive committee to resign retains the right to appeal to the general assembly in accordance with the procedure set out in Article 40 g).

- g) Dissolution

If a majority of the members of the executive committee or the union council resign simultaneously, the remaining members must call a special convention within the time limits set out in Article 20 d), so as to proceed with a general election.

- h) Removal

Any member of the executive committee, of the union council or of a committee set out in article 53 may be removed from office for either of the following reasons:

- b) An authorized representative of the CSN may audit the central council's account books at any time. The central council treasurer must provide all the account books and supporting documents required by such a person to do the audit.

CHAPTER XI - STAFFING

Article 48 - Staff

- a) The central council has employees whose work consists of implementing and properly carrying out all the activities of the central council.

In performing their duties, employees are accountable to the executive committee of the central council. Employees present monthly reports on their activities and work to the executive committee and the co-ordinator of the central council. Employees have the right to attend the convention and meetings of the general assembly, executive committee, union council and various committees and commissions. They always have speaking rights but not voting rights.

- b) The work of central council employees and employees assigned to the central council by the CSN is co-ordinated by an elected officer or employee chosen by the central council work team.
- c) The work team is composed of the entire executive committee, central council employees and CSN employees assigned to the central council. For the choice of the coordinator, the team is composed of the entire executive committee of the central council and all employees. There must be consensus between the two components of the work team (executive committee and employees) on the choice of co ordinator. The choice must be ratified by the central council's union council. If the union council does not ratify the team's choice, the team must make another choice.

CHAPTER XII - FINANCIAL YEAR AND DUES

Article 49 - Financial year

The financial year begins on January 1 and ends on December 31.

Article 50 - Per capita dues

The per capita dues paid by affiliated unions are set by the convention. The convention has the authority to raise or lower per capita dues. As is the case in the Confédération des syndicats nationaux (CSN), the per capita dues are examined, voted upon and accepted or rejected along with the three-year budget.

As soon as a union affiliates, it begins making monthly reports to the central council. The report is made on forms chosen for this purpose by the central council.

Article 51 - Special levy

The convention or the general assembly may collect special levies for extraordinary purposes. In such cases, the special levy must be mentioned in the notice of meeting. Any levy thus decided is payable to the central council at the same time as the regular monthly dues, but cannot come into force until each affiliated union has been given one (1) month of notice in writing.

CHAPTER XIII - RULES OF ORDER

Article 52 - Rules of order

In its meeting procedures, the central council is guided by the CSN's Rules of Order.

CHAPTER XIV - CENTRAL COUNCIL COMMITTEES

Article 53 - Standing and special committees

The central council's standing committees are:

- the credentials committee;
- the financial oversight committee.

These committees are struck by the triennial convention.

As well, the central council may strike any committee needed for it to run smoothly, and any member of a union affiliated with the central council may sit on such a committee. These committees report to the executive committee, union council, general assembly or the convention of the central council.

Article 54 - Credentials committee

The credentials committee is composed of the first vice-president and three (3) members chosen by the convention. Its role is to:

- a) verify the credentials of delegates to the convention or the general assembly;
- b) verify with the treasurer that each of the unions represented is in good standing with respect to payment of dues to the central council;
- c) report on its activities to the executive committee, general assembly and convention;
- d) before the convention, send affiliated unions a report on their respective delegates' attendance at general assemblies of the central council;
- e) inform unions when their delegates are absent from three (3) consecutive meetings of the general assembly;
- f) upon request, report to the executive committee on delegations to the general assembly and the convention;
- g) in co-operation with the union council, foster the involvement and participation of unions in the central council's general assemblies and conventions;
- h) meet at least once (1) a month;
- i) the quorum for this meeting is the majority of positions filled;
- j) facilitate new delegates' participation and acquaint them with the contents of the CSN's Rules of Order.

Article 55 - Financial oversight committee

A financial oversight committee composed of three (3) members is elected by the convention of the central council. Its duties are as follows:

- a) It must meet at least twice a year.
- b) The quorum for this meeting is the majority of positions filled;
- c) It audits the account books, financial statements and supporting documents to ensure compliance with the budget voted by the convention or general assemblies as well as financial decisions made by the executive committee;
- d) It reports on its observations to the executive committee, general assembly and convention.

Article 56 - Procedures

- a) At the first meeting, each committee elects a chairperson and a secretary. The committee's chairperson is in charge of calling the first meeting of committee members. The committee's secretary calls subsequent meetings and must send the secretary of the central council the names and addresses of all the committee members immediately after the first meeting.
- b) All committees are required to submit written reports on their deliberations, decisions, suggestions and recommendations to the executive committee, union council, general assembly or convention.
- c) Subject to approval by the central council's executive committee, union council or general assembly, standing committees and special committees may establish any rules of internal governance that they deem necessary to work smoothly. All expenses must be ratified in advance by the executive committee.

CHAPTER XV - AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS

Article 57 - Constitutional amendments

This constitution can only be amended by the convention, by means of a majority vote of delegates in attendance. The wording of any proposed amendment must be submitted to the general secretary of the central council at least two (2) months before the opening day of the convention.

The general secretary must send copies to all affiliated unions at least thirty (30) days before the opening day of the convention.

If, however, in the interests of the central council, it is urgent to amend the constitution without following the procedure set out above, the convention may do so by a vote of two thirds (2/3) of the delegates present. Amendments come into force as soon as they are adopted by the convention.

Article 58 - Dissolution

The dissolution of the central council cannot be decided as long as ten (10) delegates representing five (5) unions are opposed.
